

Bramble.cc provides Competition Commission with proven EDRM methodology

Independent public body

The Competition Commission is an independent public body that was established by the Competition Act 1998. It replaced the Monopolies and Mergers Commission on 1 April 1999.

The Commission conducts in-depth inquiries into mergers, markets and the regulation of major regulated industries.

The Commission is based in London and consists of around 50 remote working part-time members supported by about 200 full time staff.

Electronic records management

For the Commission to comply with government guidelines, including electronic records management, the Data Protection Act and the Freedom of Information Act, it needed to standardise methods of working to provide consistent recording of electronic data and records in a secure and robust fashion.

Business benefits included information security, electronic distribution of case papers, and more effective working practices.

eDREAM solution

Bramble.cc provided the EDRM Solution, including: managing the project, defining the requirements, procuring the appropriate technology, and designing and testing the solution. Bramble.cc's proven methodology, eDREAM, was followed throughout the lifecycle of the project.

“The eDREAM approach, which Bramble.cc provided, ensured that the project was well structured and ran smoothly. The project was well managed and ensured that our team was focused on the key tasks throughout. The specialist expertise and professionalism of Bramble.cc has contributed significantly to the success of the project.”

Competition Commission
Business Change Manager*

Working alongside the Commission's Business Change Manager the emphasis throughout the project has been on realising tangible business benefits and on managing the complex change process.

Bramble.cc has provided, amongst other things:

- Business case development
- Project management
- Package selection and procurement
- Business analysis and information modelling
- System configuration
- Model office development and testing
- Policy and procedure development
- Training
- Communications
- Change management

People aspects

The success of the project has come from emphasising the people aspects of electronic working, rather than the technology, using carefully planned management of change activities that ensured the buy-in of key stakeholders.

Bramble.cc is an independent information management consultancy. We have extensive experience in helping public and private sector organisations to embrace change in their information management strategies to achieve operational and bottom-line benefits.
